What Are Chatbots?

Chatterbots, Interactive Agents, Virtual Assistants, & Conversational Interfaces

A chatbot can be powered by pre-programmed responses or artificial intelligence (AI) to answer questions and provide information to people without a human operator.

PURPOSE: to answer questions and give out important info quickly and efficiently.

PROS: chatbots not only answer questions, but they can do so without the help of a human representative - this frees up time and saves money by increasing efficiency.

LearnG2 2019 Guide to Chatbots

Types of Chatbots

1. Simple (Scripted) – This type of chatbot only has conversations that are pre-defined ways to go in specific directions. They can not debate from what is programmed. Their purpose is automation and accomplishing simpler goals.
2. Intelligent – AI allows chatbots to provide flexible responses to people's questions and it learns from each conversation and experience so it is able to answer future questions more accurately.

In either scenario you need to know enough about your customers/audiences and what they want and need so you can design and build chatbots that are useful and user-friendly.

Bots must have purpose.

- Automated Responses
 - FAQs
 - Product and Service Details
 - Audience Segmentation
 - Product and Service Recommendations
- Feedback and Review Generation
 - Discounts, Sales, and Deals
 - Reminders, Updates, and Announcements
 - Remarketing/Retargeting

What CTAs are the top priority?

Know what calls to action are the most important for your business to grow.

- How can your bots generate those actions more quickly and easily?
- What conversions are most valuable?

- purchases
- phone calls
- website visits
- sign ups
- registrations
